Step 1: First Course

Step 2: Writing Requirement (WR)

Completion of an appropriate writing course is required in the first year by any student who has not earned transfer credits for English 101. List, in descending order (first choice, second choice, third choice) of preference, your choices. See enclosed descriptions of ENG 101 courses. Do not select a section linked to a First-Year Seminar. Mark one of the following boxes with "x". If you have satisfied the writing requirement at another institution, go to Step 5.

I am considering a major in English. Enrollment during the first semester is strongly recommended.

Step 3: Foreign Language (FL) Placement Tests

The results of your placement test will be used to determine the appropriate-level course for you. If you are planning to continue study in a foreign language in which you have completed any high school or college course work—no matter the level, the quality of instruction, or your grades—you must take a placement test. Final placement is contingent upon the outcome of your placement test. Placement tests for Arabic, Chinese and Japanese are not offered. Academic credit is not granted for placement tests. Mark one of the following boxes with "x". If you have satisfied the foreign language requirement at another institution, go to Step 5.
