

Wheaton College
Center for Global Education
Flight Reservation Form

Wheaton College organizes roundtrip group flights for students participating in Wheaton study abroad programs. Group flights will be booked from a designated city (determined by the Center for Global Education) to your study abroad location in order for you to arrive for the on-site orientation and depart after the last day of examinations. Students are responsible for arranging travel to the designated departure city as determined by the Center for Global Education.

Students should not independently arrange flights for their Wheaton study abroad program. If you have particular questions and concerns regarding flight arrangements, you should speak with your advisor in the Center for Global Education.
